THE EDITOR'S CHAIR.

HOW THINGS LOOK FROM OUR STAND POINT.

The Opinion of The Caucasian and the Opinion of Others which we Can Endorse on the Various Topics of the Day.

The sympathy of the entire country goes out to the sufferers of the great Johnston calamity, and funds for their relief are being made up and forwarded from all over the nation to Gov. Beaver, of Pennsylvania. Several towns in this State have not responded to the call for assistance, and forwarded liberal amounts. Jacksonville, Fla., a city that knows what it is to suffer, not forgetting the generous gifts of Northern friends and sympathizers during its late yellow fever scourge, has nobly forwarded a handsome amount to the relief of its suffering neighbors in the Keystone State. Such commendable acts are probably doing more to bring about harmony and good feeling between the North and South than anything else. The people of Jacksonville will ever have a warm spot in their hearts for their sympathizers at the North, and the whole people of the South will remember their kindness and be glad to return it when the opportunity is presented.

There is a good deal of human nature in the average North Carolinian, when it comes to recording his worldly possessions for tax assessment. With many there is a sudden shrinkage in property and values about this time that would entitle them to sympathy if there was sympathy enough to go round. But this peculiarity is not confined to North Carolina. The citizen who is too modest to magnify his earthly goods in the presence of the tax list is somewhat numerous and somewhat promiscuous in other States as well. If the citizen were relieved from this embarrassing ordeal, and the old system still practiced of "giving in taxes" abolished, and assessors appointed to go round and list the property, it might work better and put an end to the harrowing perplexities that worry the list-takers.—WillStar.

In speaking of Ex-President Jeff. Davis in connection with the Fayetteville Centennial next November the Wilmington Messenger says:

"We hope all North Carolinians who can will participate in the ceremonies of the day. The fact that the venerable and illustrious President of the Southern Confederacy—'An old man, broken with the storms of State,' but still of undimmed intellect and with a heart as true as the needle to the pole to the Southern people and the noble cause for which they periled so much and suffered so long, will draw an immense crowd. We confess, that without having anything of to do with the war, we could feel glad to take by the hand the man who stood forth as the vicarious sacrifice of the South and was so ignominiously treated. He did the very best he could and he was not a siner above all his fellows who were true to principle and faithful to the cause and the South. In our heart we honor the man. Honest and honorable, a man of great abilities and large experience in public matters; a statesman well poised and earnest, true to convictions and principles; a representative man of the South—sincere, brave, affable and faithful, he is worthy of the respect, admiration and veneration of all true Southerners."

That Judge cartoon of Harrison in the role of Daniel in the lion's den, costumed for the part on the basis of a compromise between one of the angels of Sistine Madonna and Baby McKee about to flog his hobby horse, is playing the mischief among the Republican statesmen. They don't like the idea of being cowed by the little dictator, and want to know who made Benjamin their Daniel, anyway. The President may be a little Daniel, but he certainly is not a Joshua, as he evidently cannot cause a sun to stand still,—not even make Son Russell stop publishing such fool pictures.—N. Y. Star.

Y. M. C. ASSOCIATION

Of the Wilmington District, Meets at Maxton June 14-16th.

At the State Convention of the Y. M. C. A., which was in session in Wilmington March 21st to 24th, it was decided to divide the State into 5 districts, with headquarters at Wilmington, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Goldsboro and Durham respectively. The committee that has charge of the work of the Wilmington district, (including Anson, Montgomery, Chatham, Harnett, Sampson, Duplin and Pender counties) has decided to hold a convention for this district, in Maxton, June 14th to 16th, at which time and place the following subjects will be discussed:

"Pastor's Relations to the Association."
"Our District, its extent, and possibilities of work in it."
"Definite work of the Association."
"Relation of the Social to the Religious work."
"Importance of Association work in small town and country places."
"First steps in organizing an Association."
"Committees and their importance."
"Physical culture."
"Woman's Auxiliary work."
Mr. H. C. McQueen, the secretary of the committee, has written Col. W. L. Faison urging him to give the good work his influence and see that Sampson is represented by delegates in the Convention.

A BRAVE BOATMAN.

We have many instances where those who are regarded as wanting in that much admired quality, bravery, have, when the occasion offered itself, surprised all who knew them by brave and noble deeds. The following account of a young man who lived in the fated town of Johnston, Pa., is a striking example of this character:

Edward C. Willis, a young fireman of Cambria, who no one suspected of having more than ordinary courage, when the flood was at its height and people were floating down the rushing torrent in hundreds, rushed to his boat, and senseless to the pleadings of his wife and relatives, shoved his frail craft out into the angry current, gliding alongside a floating roof upon which a woman and two children were kneeling with blanched faces and stony stare. He skillfully evaded the obstruction that every minute threatened to crush the craft and lifting the terrorized creatures to his boat shot across to a point of safety. A shout of enthusiasm swelled from the throng that lined the bank, but the noble and the noble cause for which they periled so much and suffered so long, will draw an immense crowd. We confess, that without having anything of to do with the war, we could feel glad to take by the hand the man who stood forth as the vicarious sacrifice of the South and was so ignominiously treated. He did the very best he could and he was not a siner above all his fellows who were true to principle and faithful to the cause and the South. In our heart we honor the man. Honest and honorable, a man of great abilities and large experience in public matters; a statesman well poised and earnest, true to convictions and principles; a representative man of the South—sincere, brave, affable and faithful, he is worthy of the respect, admiration and veneration of all true Southerners."

CUMBERLAND NEWS.

A CANNING FACTORY ORGANIZED—WORK ON C. F. & Y. V. BRIDGE PROGRESSING.

Another Incendiary Fire—A Camp for the Veterans.

(REG. COR. CAUCASIAN.)
FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., June 10th, 1889.

The Fayetteville canning factory was organized last week with Dr. H. W. Lilly as President, and an excellent Board of Directors. The capital stock is $5,000, with the privilege of increasing to $30,000. The shares were put at $25.00 each, thus enabling men of small means to take stock.

Capt. J. L. Autry, of Shepard, was in the city last Friday. The Captain is much esteemed here, where he has many friends.

At the meeting of the Board of Magistrates last week Major A. A. McKethan resigned as a county commissioner, and Mr. Neill R. Blue was elected to fill the vacancy. Pressing business duties compelled Major McKethan to resign. He was one of the best commissioners the county ever had.

The tax levy was fixed at $1 for State and county purposes, the poll tax at $2.30. Capt. S. C. Rankin, Col. Wm. Alderman and Duncan Shaw were re-elected as the Board of Education, and Col. W. S. Cook was re-elected as chairman of the Board of Magistrates.

Mr. James D. McNeill has sold his saw-mill in this city to a Northern syndicate, who will greatly enlarge the operations. The price paid was $5,500. The mill is located on the bank of the river, and most of the timber is floated down from the upper Cape Fear, much of it coming from Harnett county.

The work on the piers for the railroad bridge across the river is progressing rapidly. The work of excavation for the pier in the middle of the river has commenced. This is the most troublesome of the five.

Maj. B. C. Gorham, of this city and Miss Lizzie Rishton were married at New Bern last Thursday and arrived here that night. The bride has been a teacher in the Graded School here for several years.

A delightful picnic was had at Carver's Falls, several miles North of this city, Thursday evening. About fourteen couples participated, going out late in the afternoon and returning by moonlight. They were chaperoned by Capt. and Mrs. Chas. Humphrey and Mrs. E. L. Pemberton, Sr.

Dr. and Mrs. T. D. Haugh have returned from St. Louis, where they have been visiting their son.

The farmers continue to bring reports of fine crops. The prospect is good, and we rejoice with the farmers and hope with them that the harvest will be abundant.

The hotel men say that travel is very light now in this section.

A Military School and a Female College are two things desired and needed in this city. Our citizens are ready to co-operate with the right men. Fayetteville is the place where the Odd Fellows ought to establish their orphan asylum. The arsenal grounds would be a beautiful location. It overlooks the city and the owners will probably give the site.

The carpenter shops of the Express Steamboat Company were destroyed by fire on Monday night. It was an incendiary fire, and it is thought that the same scoundrel who burned the warehouse of another company a week or two ago set fire to the shops. It is to be hoped that he will be caught. Detectives are after him.

The editor of the Observer, with his indomitable pluck and vim, proposes to raise the sum of $1,000 to establish a Confederate Veteran's Camp during the Centennial in November, and asks for subscriptions of one dollar or more. He starts the ball with a subscription. Now, since it is certain that Hor. Jefferson Davis will be here, hundreds of ex-Confederates will desire to meet him and accommodations will be slight. This camp will be a necessity. Rooms are already being engaged at the hotels. We hope the press of the State will give this worthy effort publicity and favorable comment. All subscriptions should be forwarded to Z. W. Whitehead, this city. Sheriff Fisher carried Miss Jane Johnson to the Western Insane Asylum, at Morganton.

Last week though this county is in the district for the Raleigh Asylum, which is filled up. Miss Mary M. H. Carver was conveyed to the Raleigh Asylum the week before. She is an estimable lady and hopes are entertained for her recovery.

The Fayetteville Cotton Seed Oil Mills were enlarged last year and are to be still further enlarged this summer. This has been one of the most successful industries started here.

A large delegation from the Y. M. C. A. will go down to Maxton next Friday to attend the District Convention of the Association. The meeting will be in session three days, from June 14th to 16th, inclusive. The Association here is in a most gratifying condition, the membership being about two hundred and fifty of the young men of the city. The General Secretary will soon be here to take charge of the work.

The Centennial Committee of fifty met in the rooms of the Cotton Exchange last Friday afternoon and appointed the sub-committees.

An attempt was made last Friday night to break into the stores of Messrs. A. Moore and C. M. Watson, on Market Square. The policeman on that beat ran against them, but they escaped.

A special meeting of the County Alliance is called to meet in this city to-morrow. A committee from the directors of the canning factory is to meet them to make plans to dispose of the fruit crop.

WONDERS OF THE UNIVERSE

What assertion will make one believe that in one second of time one beat of the pendulum of a clock, a ray of light travels over 152,000 miles, and would therefore perform the tour of the world in about the same time that it requires to wink with our eyelids, and in much less than a swift runner occupies in taking a single step.

What mortal can be made to believe, without demonstration, that the sun is almost a million times larger than the earth? And that, although so remote from us, a cannon-ball shot directly towards it, and maintaining its full speed, would be 20 years in reaching it? Yet it effects the earth by its attraction in an appreciable instant of time.

Who would not ask for demonstration when told that a goat's wing, in its ordinary flight, beats many hundred times in a second, or that there exists animated and regularly organized beings, many thousands of whose bodies laid together would not extend an inch?

But what are these to the astonishing truths which modern optical inquiries have disclosed, which teach that every point of a medium through which a ray of light is affected with a succession of periodical movements regularly recurring at equal intervals, no less than five hundred millions of times in a single second. That it is by such movements communicated to the nerves of the eye that we see. Nay, more, that it is the difference in the frequency of their recurrence which affects us with the sense of the diversity of color? That, for instance, in acquiring the sensation of redness, our eyes are affected four hundred and eighty-two millions of millions of times; of yellowness, five hundred and forty-two millions of millions of times; and of violet, seven hundred and seven millions of millions of times per second?

Do not such things sound more like the ravings of madmen than the sober conclusions of people in their waking senses? They are, nevertheless, conclusions to which any one may certainly arrive who will only be at the trouble of examining the chain of reasoning by which they have been obtained.

The people of the United States have virtually monopolized the name "American." While there are a number of other countries not so great, it is true in America, the inhabitants of each are known by the name of their respective countries. If a man lives in Brazil, and goes abroad, he is known as a Brazilian; if he lives in Canada, as a Canadian; in Mexico, as a Mexican; but if he resides in New York city or elsewhere in the United States, which would violate all rules of euphony, but an American. The country is great, however, and the people who live in the United States are distinctively American, and for that reason entitled to the appellation.—New and Observer.

SOUTHERN WOMEN DECORATE THE GRAVES OF THE BLUE AND THE GRAY.

This Act Turns the Tide of Popular Feeling.

It was, I think, Church, who during our civil war, painted the picture of "Our Banner in the Sky." Loyal people everywhere straightway went mad over it. It showed a pale sunrise, barred with crimson clouds, parting over an area of sky still dark blue with night, and gemmed with stars. From a mountain below towered a dead pine that supplied the shaft of the flag. As with all popular rages, this one pulled upon our taste, by and by. It was sharply criticised as unnatural and impossible, laughed at as a trick of art, and finally went out of fashion. I had not seen a reprint, even in a shop window, for six months, when, on April 6th, 1885, I threw open my window before sunrise, to let in the morning freshness, and beheld the picture itself!

Against a dim blue background, streaked with rose, the slender gray spire of a venerable church shot high toward heaven, and from the summit streamed straight and steady, the "Stars and Stripes." So straight, that the flag might have been painted upon the dim blue with Venus, mild and lustrous, in the lead of the fading train of night-stars; so steady, that not a fold creased the surface of the level bunting.

It was the embodiment of the Nation's sublime triumph; the visible expression of her solemn joy in a restored Union; the harbinger of a reign of peace and good-will. Hour and scene were never to be forgotten. The city had not awakened from slumber; the still heavens seemed, to my thrilled imagination, bending to join in the matin-service of holy praise held by the old church and Our Banner in the Sky.

The Great Calm after a four years' night of storm, and wreck, and blood, was only the beginning of the real end of the war. How often during the decade that followed the evacuation of the Confederate capital and the declaration of peace, did our hearts fail us for fear that the gaping wound left by the fratricidal strife would never heal over—at least in this, our generation? How often we heard from one side and the other, muttered through clenched teeth, the ominous reminder, "The blood of the conflict is on me still!"

We men, North and South, deprecated the institution of a stated season for decorating the graves of those who had fallen in the war. It was better, reasoned the peace-lovers, to make haste to forget that which had ploughed such long furrows in our burial fields. "Best," retorted the unpacified, "that the South be interdicted from public commemoration of those she called heroes—rather than Justice branded rebels." When Virginia women drew to their bosoms the cherished stars and bars, and set them in tearful defiance over dead sons, brothers and husbands, upon the recurrence of each Memorial Day; when Southern orators embraced these occasions to eulogize Jackson, Hood and Lee; when war-scarred veterans marched yearly, with spade and mattock, to renew the sinking mounds that marked the resting places of their slain comrades, it was believed by reconstructionists that the Government ought to interfere, as for the suppression of treason.

For a few years we mourned our dead apart, and to the superficial eye, it seemed that each anniversary Memorial and Decoration Day (now jealously we kept the names distinct) widened, not lessened, "the bloody chasm."

It was, if I mistake not, nine years after the close of the war, that the papers on the morrow of the Memorial Day ceremonies in a southwestern city, and this notice:

"The graves of Confederate and Federal soldiers were decorated alike yesterday, by the hands of Southern women." That little sentence marked the turn of the tide, the parting of the bitter-salt ooze to show the spot where the divine dove of peace might find rest for the sole of her foot. It is not so nominated in National annals, but the truth remains that, from that hour, the recession of the flood has been steady.

The culmination of the holy triumph was in the Centennial celebration on April 30th, 1889. The banners that floated that day from spire, and tower, and mast-head, bore the emblem now dear and sacred to the hearts of a united people, glorying in that union. For the first time since the torn soil received their lifeless forms, the fallen heroes of both sections was, on Decoration Day, remembered without bitterness. "Blue and Gray," were meaningless terms in the speech and thoughts of those who, all over our broad land, planted above the flower-wreathed beds of sleeping warriors, one and the same standard,—the colors that flew straight and steady in the dawn of that April day, twenty-four years ago!

The Decoration Day of 1889 was a Nation's Ebenezer. Let us rejoice and be glad in it!—Marion Harland, in Once a Week.

THE VALUE OF PURE AIR.

Some Results of Breathing Impure Air.

The atmosphere we breathe has in its natural state a nearly uniform composition of oxygen, nitrogen, carbonic acid and watery vapor. It is conceded that in each inspiration four cubic inches are taken into the lungs, one half of which disappears in the act of inspiration. This consumption of oxygen is greater when the temperature is low than when it is high, and during digestion it is greater than when the stomach is empty.

Riding in the steam and horse cars we are compelled to breathe not only the air from people's lungs, but the exhalations from their skins and clothing. Fancy riding in the steam cars for a long distance in winter time, with two large stoves heated almost red hot with anthracite coal, in a space say of fifteen feet wide and ten feet high. This space will contain about eighty people; and is closely shut up. All know the stove uses up oxygen with great rapidity, and what is left is breathed over and over again by the people, who are giving out from their lungs constantly a gas utterly unfit to be breathed.

Is it any wonder headache and nausea steal over them? They must either sit in a draught or endure the poison, as the ventilators are not enough to carry off the foul air.

Visit some school-houses after a walk in the fresh air and the odor is something disgusting. These unpleasant sensations come from want of greater ventilation. Here again the air is vitiated by breaths and clothing; many of the pupils scarcely know the luxury of a good bath and plenty of clean under-clothing. Now can the air be so impure? If the windows are open long the teacher and children take cold, and some are afraid and think they cannot stand the smallest breath of fresh air.

A school-room thirty feet square and eight feet high contains seven thousand two hundred cubic feet of air. This room will seat sixty pupils. Allowing ten cubic feet of air to each pupil per minute, all the air in the room will be vitiated in twelve minutes. Now, granting that every means is used regarding ventilation, and a goodly supply of soap and water to scrub the floors instead of sweeping. A recess of five minutes ought to be given every hour, so that the children could move about, have the windows and doors wide open and let them breathe in freely the pure air of nature, to repair their mental and physical condition.

Effects are proportioned to causes, and if an atmosphere filled with five per cent. of carbonic acid will produce death in a few minutes, what must be the effect of breathing for ten, twenty or forty years the much smaller proportion which must be present in every inhabited room where there is not a constant incoming and outgoing of air? It does and must lower the standard of health and shorten our lives. Let a person who is in good health, with a sound nasal organ, take a brisk walk in the open air, then come at once into an inhabited room, and if there is any unpleasant odor the air of that room is hurtful.

How many dwelling, sitting-rooms, or bed-rooms would pass such an ordeal in the early morning after being occupied at night.

Bad air, being heavy, always sinks to the floor, and to be got rid of must be drawn from the floor, either by open fireplaces or some means of ventilation. A room ten by twelve by twelve contains fourteen hundred and forty cubic feet of air, the available oxygen of which is used up by one person in half an hour.

What to breathe, then, becomes the great question, especially for persons unaccustomed with the only way of producing good health and log life. Fresh air is our life—more to us than food. Breathe pure, fresh air day and night. You cannot get too much of it. Fresh air is the one mighty disinfectant. It certainly is its own purifier; nothing can take the place of pure ventilation.

We suffer most in winter for want of ventilation; the outside cold makes us close all the apertures in the rooms, while in summer the heat makes us open all the doors and windows. I think it preferable from my standpoint, to have less heat in the rooms, to air them every two hours, to get rid of the furnace gases, and in the evenings to get away with the deadly carbon from our gas jets. Let cleanliness be the watchword in every home from attic to cellar. Keep plenty of disinfectants around the washbasins and water closets. In damp cellars keep charcoal always. It is simple and cheap. Let in the blessed sunlight everywhere you can. Never mind the fading of furniture or carpets; better than that our lives and those of our children be the forfeit.

Sunshine not only gladdens our hearts but it steals into the corners and makes the surroundings pure. Where sunshine enters every room will be healthy. Get the musty odor out of your offices, stores, every place of business. Better stand cold air than breathe slow death. Live in the open air all you can. Take a brisk walk countrywards every day. Go to the hillsides, but remember "God breathed into our nostrils the breath of life." So learn to keep your mouths closed. 'Tis a good thing to practice. Breathe through your nose at all times, as mouth breathing is only an acquired habit and brings thousands of evils.—Boston Globe.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN MILKING AND PARSING.

At a village school, not many miles from Centerville, a precocious boy beinasked to parse the sentence, "Mary, milk the cow," went on accurately till he came to the last word, when he said: "Cow is a pronoun, feminine gender, third person singular, and stands for 'Mary.'"

"Stands for Mary?" asked the master in astonishment. "Yes, sir," responded the urchin, with a grin, "for if the cow didn't stand for Mary, how could Mary milk the cow?"—London Standard.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

Something Interesting for the Little Folks.

(Prepared for THE CAUCASIAN each week by W. A. Johnson.)

CHARLIE'S OPINION.
There is such a comfort in a chair
And such music in a lie!
I wish that little pocket saws,
Would get to be the style!
My kite may fly up in the tree,
My sled be stuck in mud;
And all my hopes of digging wells
Be nipped off in the bud;
But with a little box of nails,
A gimlet and a screw,
I'm happier than my king;
I've work enough to do!

Childhood shows the man, as morning shows the day.

We are no longer so happy as soon as we wish to be happier.

To learn much, we must learn little at a time, and learn that well.

Children are God's apostles, day by day
Sent forth to preach of love, and hope, and peace.

The Little Cricket.
A little three year old girl, when her mother was trying to get her to sleep one summer evening, began to ask questions about the noise outside. When told that it was caused by a cricket, she wisely remarked: "Mamma, I think it ought to be oiled."

Get the Wrong "If."

Tommy's mother had had a terrible time teaching him to remember always to say, "If you please" at the table. His memory is lamentably bad.

The other day this dialogue took place at the breakfast table:

Tommy—Mamma, pass me the butter.

Mamma.—If what, Tommy?

Tommy.—If you kin reach it.

A Good Memory.

The verse that Sunday was: "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver," and Merle knew it perfectly—oh, yes, indeed!

"Well, Merle," the teacher said, "do you know the text to-day?"

"Yes'm," was the prompt answer.

But there was a long silence, until the teacher began, gently, "The Lord—"

"The Lord—" said Merle, slowly.

"Loveth," prompted the teacher.

"Loveth," chimed in Merle—"The Lord loveth—Well, the Lord loveth sunn'n; I don't 'member what."

Life Just What We Make It.

Tom heard his mother say one morning, "Life is just what we make it, bright and cherry, or sad and dreary." Tom could not get the words out of his mind. Starting for school he missed his slate from his strap, and saw that his little sister had it drawing Jack-the-giant-killer on it, and had erased his examples that he had worked very hard to get ready for the morning's recitation. He was just going to scold when he remembered his mother's word. So he laughed instead, and told his mother that his little sister was quite an artist. Tom tried to make the best of everything after that, and one day his mother said, "Why, Tom, you are just like sunshine in the house nowadays." "Well, mother," said Tom, "Life is just what we make it, bright and cherry, or sad and dreary."

"Make It Look Like One."

Ned had a watch, a very good one, though a little old-fashioned. There was one thing about it which displeased him; it was a key-winder, and all the rest of the boys carried stem-winders. "Why, Ned," said father, "every jeweler says key-winders are the most reliable and durable. Besides, there is no solid gold in any watch cases in your school."

But Ned insisted, and father consented for him to take it to the jeweler and have a stem-winding attachment put in. He came back with a doubtful look on his face.

"Father," Mr. Smith says he can't change the watch to a stem-winder, but he can make it look just like one."

"And you told him no?"

"Want your watch to lie? I want my boy to understand, if he never learns another lesson, the difference between seeming to be and being. And I want him to understand that the base of society is the contemptible people who are always trying to appear what they are not."

LOCALS.

—Mr. B. L. Scott of Piney Grove made the first shipment of peaches from this point last Tuesday.

The town authorities are having a pond constructed for the accommodation of such razor backs as may be caught upon the streets.

—Dr. Marable was too unwell Sunday to preach, and his pulpit at the Presbyterian church was occupied by Mr. N. L. Anderson, who preached an instructive sermon.

—The Carolina Vender Works are turning out a nice lot of crates, baskets, etc. The C. V. W. crate is meeting with considerable favor among shippers and receivers.

—We neglected to state last week that it was announced on the evening of the musical soiree at the Clinton Female Institute that the school would open the next session September 2nd.

—The editor of this paper has been too unwell to contribute to its columns this week, and any shortcomings that may be observed in the get up of this issue should not be laid to him.

—The shipments of truck from this point have been unusually large, but returns are slow in coming. Our shippers would be better satisfied if consignees immediately after goods are sold.

—The work of repairing and enlarging the Presbyterian church has begun. This building is rather small to accommodate as large congregations as often attend, and more room will be a good addition, besides the many other improvements it will undergo.

—A Southern Normal School, on the scholarship plan, is established at Nashville, Tenn., out of the Endowment Fund. North Carolina is entitled to ten two-year scholarships. Cannot at least one of these be secured by some of our Sampson teachers?

—“Sampson Blues” are beginning to make their appearance on this market, and the New Yorker will soon be gladdened by their appearance at the metropolis. Prices for huckleberries of early varieties have so far ranged at from 8 to 20 cents in New York and Boston.

—We have received an invitation to be present at the anniversary of the Magnolia Reading Club, June 21st. Salutatory will be read by Miss Sawyer. There will be readings by Miss Newberry, Miss Louise McMillan and recitations by Miss Sellers, and W. D. McMillan, Jr. The lecture will be delivered by the bright and versatile Henry Blount, Esq., editor of the Wilson Mirror.

—One will have to visit the depot just before the train leaves, either in morning or evening, in order to appreciate the extent of Clinton's shipments of truck, and see the rush that is made to get it aboard. Wagons, carts, wheelbarrows and vehicles of almost every variety, loaded with truck, are found at the platform, and the scene presented is one quite business like. If prices hold up our truckers will reap a handsome income this season.

—Quite a number of our young people left yesterday evening to attend a Euchre party at the residence of Mr. Liv. Faison, at Elliott.

—Four packed car loads of truck left this point last Tuesday. This amount has left on one day several times within the past two weeks.

—We are informed that the Clinton Dramatic Club will repeat “Esmeralda” next Thursday, night, the 20th. We think it is a good idea.

—Our agent is canvassing Dismal township for THE CAUCASIAN this week. Next week he will visit the people of Eastern Cumberland in its interest.

—A well is being dug on Wall St. just in front of Dr. Holliday's drug store, and will be very convenient when finished as well as necessary in case of fire.

—A friend of Mr. W. A. Johnson writes from Hantington, Pa., that during the recent flood there the water overflowed the banks of the river and filled rooms in some of the houses to the depth of 12 feet.

—The Reidsville Weekly says: “A cunning factory would be able to make money here for itself, and would utilize the fruit and berries, about one-half of which have been bringing the owners to ruin.”

—A cunning factory will pay at all in Reidsville, one would pay handsomely here.

—The bridal party which was expected to arrive here at 6:40 Tuesday evening was delayed nearly five hours by the train of the A. C. L. being behind time. The party reached Clinton near 11 o'clock Tuesday night.

—A letter from Mr. A. F. Johnson, who is making an extended tour through the North, states that he is gradually improving. His many friends in this section will be glad to hear this, and all join in the wish that he may soon be entirely recovered.

—By way of information to our readers who have not yet learned it, we announce that on the 1st of June the Railway authorities saw fit to remove Mr. H. B. Chesnut, the popular and efficient agent at this place. It will be very difficult for the said authorities to fill his place with another agent equally as acceptable to our people.

—A class of eight children from the Oxford Orphan Asylum under the management of Miss Lena Hudgins gave an entertainment at the College last Monday night. Our people, always ready and willing to contribute to worthy causes, favored them with a good house, and all seemed well pleased with the rendition of the program.

—We learn that Clifton Ward, the leading Republican of the county, has been appointed postmaster at this place and will probably succeed Mr. Johnson about the first of July. Our people will all regret when Mr. Johnson leaves the office, for he is one of the best postmasters in the whole country. No man could possibly have given more general satisfaction than he has given throughout his administration.

—Mr. C. P. Parker, of Cypress Creek, Bladen county, was in town last week looking for carpenters to begin the work of building up Parker's Station on the C. P. & Y. V. Extension. While Clinton has quite a number of good mechanics, yet all of them were employed, and Mr. Parker did not succeed in securing their services. This home demand for workmen shows that Clinton is by no means retrograding, besides the many other indications of its advancement.

—Truckers in this section, and in the South, generally, have sustained serious losses on account of the late floods. There has been a general standstill on the Atlantic Coast Line system of railroad for nearly a week, and most perishable goods shipped during that time were either spoiled or damaged, to such an extent as to be worth nothing, when they reached their destination. But bridges, washouts, etc., are now repaired, transportation resumed, and no further trouble in that line will probably arise.

—The sixth annual session of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly will convene in the Teachers' Assembly Building, at Morehead City, on Tuesday, June 18th, and remain in session till July 1st. In order to get reduced rates on the railroads and at the Atlantic Hotel it is necessary to have the Assembly certificate ($2.00 for males and $1.00 for females). Those who are not members of the Assembly are required to get a recommendation from the County Superintendent of Public Instruction. The Mammoth Atlantic Hotel, which has been much enlarged and improved, will be under the efficient management of R. B. Rainey, the popular hotelier and well-known proprietor of the Yarbore House at Raleigh. This is enough to justify us in saying that a trip to the “City of the Sea” will be delightful alike for the teacher and pleasure-seeker.

Masonic Funeral.

The funeral of W. A. Jackson, who was a member of Mingo Lodge, will be held near his late residence, in Mingo township, on the 4th Sunday in June. All Masons in good standing are cordially invited to attend.

Do you take THE CAUCASIAN? If not, then it is your duty to do so, and help us make the paper better and more influential.

A Brilliant Wedding.

The marriage of Rev. Henry W. Battle, of New Bern, and Miss Maggie Stewart, of this place, in the Baptist Church here yesterday morning, the 12th inst., was a brilliant social event. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, Rev. J. L. Stewart, assisted by Rev. J. C. Dill, of Goldsboro. The church contained a large number of spectators, acquaintances and friends of the contracting couple, notwithstanding the marriage took place at the early hour of 7:45 o'clock a. m. The pulpit was handsomely decorated with flowers and evergreens, and a befitful air, ornamented with flowers, ivy, jessamine and cedar, stood in front, and under this the bride was given away.

The bride entered and marched up the aisle on the arm of her father, and the groom followed her. The beautiful wedding March, rendered by Miss Carrie Johnson.

The attendants were as follows: Mr. J. B. Stewart, with Miss Jennie Battle; Dr. J. F. J. Battle, with Miss Mary Stewart; Mr. L. J. Huntley, with Miss Rena Stewart; Mr. J. F. Love, with Miss Lillie Bennett; Mr. F. W. Hancock, with Miss Lou McClammy.

The ushers were, Messrs. W. S. Holmes, Preston F. Stevens, Matt. J. Herring and L. A. Bethune.

Immediately after the ceremony was performed the happy couple left on the 8:20 train for their home in New Bern, carrying with them the best wishes of their many friends.

A very pleasant reception was given at the residence of the bride's father Tuesday night, and an elegant supper of inviting delicacies was served at 10 o'clock. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and valuable presents.

On this occasion Clinton has lost one of its most charming and estimable young ladies—but this is New Bern's gain.

Ingold Academy.

The closing exercises of this school took place on Friday, the 7th inst. The exercises of the pupils were concluded on Thursday before, and on Friday morning between three and four hundred of the good people of the surrounding country assembled at the academy to hear the Literary address, which was delivered by Senator E. W. Kerr, of Clinton.

The subject selected by Mr. Kerr was “The Educational and Material Development of North Carolina,” and for more than an hour he entertained the audience with interesting and instructive history of our State, and encouraged the future heims of the “Ship of State” by pointing out the possibilities before them. An elegant and sumptuous dinner was spread, and the lovers of delicacies were treated to a rare feast.

Mr. W. A. Hobbs, the Principal, is to be congratulated on the success of the past term of this school, and our country would be fortunate in having many other schools of his kind.

Poplar Grove High School.

The Closing Exercises of this institution, under the management of Prof. J. O. Alderman, took place last Friday. A large number was present and witnessed the exercises, which were alike creditable to teachers and pupils. The Literary Address was delivered by F. R. Cooper, Esq., of Clinton, and was very much enjoyed for its interesting and instructive character. The past term of the school has been a prosperous one, and Prof. Alderman is to be congratulated on the success he has had.

In Memoriam.

Mr. Allen B. Barbrey, a prominent and one of the most esteemed citizens of Hall's township, died at his residence on Saturday, June 1st, of cancer of the liver. He was confined to his bed, patiently lingering after hope, for more than a month previous to his death. Mr. Barbrey was about 75 years of age at his death. He was an intimate friend of the father of this writer, so we have a good opportunity to appreciate the value of his character.

NOTICE.

To the Stockholders of the Sampson Co. Agricultural Society.

Having bid off the grounds and buildings of the Sampson Agricultural Society at a public sale, and as there is now business of importance to myself in that capacity and to the stockholders, as original owners, I take this means of calling a meeting of said stockholders, to meet in my office, in Clinton, Saturday, May 15th, at 11 o'clock. Every stockholder is urgently requested to attend.

Respectfully,
H. E. FAISON.

June 6th, 1889.

Magnolia Blooms.

Capt. Wiggs, who has been quite sick, is improving, we are glad to hear.

Mr. Eddie Jones, of Kenansville, is visiting in our city.

Grin death visited the residence of Mr. John J. Kelly Thursday and took away his youngest child. The remains were carried to Kenansville for interment.

Miss Alice Rickett has returned from Oxford, where she has been at school for the last term.

Miss Belle Sawyer returned from Rocky Mount Monday. Quite a long visit she made.

The CAUCASIAN is struggling to secure a paper of which you will be proud. You wish us much success, of course, but you can do more for us than that. Renew your subscription, and get others to subscribe.

All Through the County.

What Sampsonians are Doing and Saying.

Send us the news from your township in this column.

PINEY GROVE.

Dear CAUCASIAN, some time ago you asked for some notes of the progress of each township, and as this section has not been represented in that column, I will send you a few rough notes.

There seems to be no break-neck enterprise in this community, but the general progress is on a smooth and steady boom.

Mr. George W. Sutton has recently dressed his commodious and handsome dwelling with a fresh cream colored robe. In addition to this he has also beautified internally with costly furniture, all making up a beautiful appearance.

Mr. Julius King has made much improvement in his dwelling and out buildings during the past year. One of our most enterprising men tells me that he is in hearing of 22 steam engines when at home, and 15 farm bells. All but one of the engines have been bought in recent years.

Another says that from the central point of those engines he can take a horn and make it heard by 130 Sultans at once.

Rev. and Mrs. D. A. Futrell recently spent several days among us. A few days ago Mr. Jas. Daughtry lost his horse, but soon filled his place by another from the lively stables.

Several severe cases of dysentery, and many have suffered more or less with it around us for the past two weeks. The principal sufferers thus far are Messrs. S. R. Daughtry, Barney Sutton, J. T. Prince and Lonnie Sutton. It seems to be an epidemic, Dr. Ferrington is treating them.

Miss Edie Bizzell, of Wayne, has been visiting Mrs. George W. Sutton.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kornegay are well pleased with the Salem High School and will continue to patronize it.

LITTLE COHARGE.

Crops are looking well in this section, some of the farmers are plowing out for hilling, which is quite early for the farmers of this section.

Mr. J. B. Owen has moved into his new blacksmith shop at Sessom's store, where he will do all kinds of blacksmithing on short notice.

Mr. J. H. Harris, who is guarding the convict force on the C. F. & Y. V. extension, is home on a visit to his parents.

Miss Sophie E. Mitchell, who has been on an extended visit to her brother, Mr. James H. Mitchell, of Sausy, Ga., returned last Saturday.

Miss Vandana Sewell, of Cumberland, who has been attending school at Hayne, is spending vacation with Miss Willie Culbreth, of Owenville.

We had the pleasure of attending church at Bethel last Sunday and hearing an excellent sermon by Rev. J. C. Bristol, from Heb. 11th chapter and 10 verse.

Miss Lena Sessom, of Owenville, left Monday to attend commencement at Trinity College.

The correspondent, “Ex-Guard,” says that it was Dismal Swamp and not Big Swamp, that he meant in his article of a few weeks ago.

WESTBROOKS.

The three-year-old child (Norman) of Mr. Winslow Tart died Tuesday night.

We are having plenty of rain, a long drouth.

Crops in this section are fine.

Rev. Mr. Barker preached at Maple Grove on Sunday last to a large congregation. And we are glad that they are having a flourishing Sunday School at that place.

Ex-Sheriff Barefoot has cabbage two feet across seven weeks ago, and is now enjoying himself eating them.

Miss Rena Barnes, of Averyboro, has been visiting Mr. J. C. Parker, of this section.

Mrs. P. T. Massingill, of Dunn, has been visiting her mother.

Yours truly,
BUGREE & DUNDEE.

DISMAL.

The stockholders of Clement Model School met last Saturday and transacted the following business: G. I. Smith was elected chairman, Dr. T. C. Bullock, secretary; Capt. J. L. Autry, treasurer. $200 was raised to erect a building.

The Academy department will be 40x24 feet. Primary and musical department 16x8. The building will be erected in a beautiful grove on the road, in about three hundred yards of the residence of Capt. J. L. Autry. The following gentlemen took each a $25 stock in the building: Capt. J. L. Autry, G. I. Smith, Dr. T. C. Bullock, Blackman Williams, R. W. Howard, Hinton Maxwell, Thomas Williams, W. E. Williams, G. I. Smith, Blackman Williams and Hinton Maxwell were elected committeemen, whose duty will be to look after the business of the stockholders. It was a pleasant meeting and all meant business. This is the beginning of a great and noble enterprise of the good people of Dismal and will soon result in great good. The meeting adjourned to meet again the 1st Saturday in July.

Crops are looking well.

Health of community generally good, except a few cases of mumps and measles.

The hardest gale of wind passed this place last Sunday that has passed in seven years, accompanied with rain and hail.

MINGO.

Mrs. Mary B. Strickland, wife of Oliver D. Strickland, died on the 4th instant, at her home in Mingo township.

Rev. Lundy Lee's little daughter, Dollie, died on the 5th inst.

Mrs. John Phillips died near Dunn on the 5th inst.

The hawks have been very quiet in this immediate vicinity this season, but on yesterday one made a couple of hits at Mrs. Draughton's chickens. This morning Mr. H. H. Draughton went after them and, with his wonderful art of calling hawks, returned in a short time with two fine “blue darters.”

Rev. A. B. Alderman is expected to die at any time. Mrs. R. A. Draughton has been with him since last Sabbath. A great many others are suffering under the hand of affliction.

We have had fine seasons and crops are looking well. The farmers have been moving fast and the farms are in good condition.

H. H. DRAUGHTON.

We have more sickness and measles in this vicinity than has ever been known before. Mr. John Core, of this neighborhood dug five graves last week. This is very sad, indeed, but it helps us to remember that “we too must go.”

Prof. A. J. Alderman is visiting his father's.

Mr. T. J. Warren, one of Fayetteville's energetic merchants, is visiting friends and relatives at Giles' Mill.

We have a hen in this section that lays an egg that weighs three and a half ounces.

TAYLOR'S BRIDGE.

Died, On Friday, the 7th inst., Mrs. John Boone, aged about thirty years. She leaves a number of relatives, and was a daughter of Mr. Allen Chestnutt, who lives near Clinton.

Rev. D. B. Clayton, of South Carolina, will preach at Red Hill Church on the 3rd Sunday in June, and on Saturday before at Woodland Academy, in the Jane's neighborhood.

Mr. Price Boon is very low at this time with heart disease. Dr. G. W. Mosely is attending him and thinks his condition very critical.

HONEYCUTTS.

Mr. A. R. Crumpler has a squash vine that had 25 squashes on it the 1st of June.

Crops are doing well.

Rev. F. R. Underwood preached a very interesting sermon at Salem Sunday.

Miss L. M. Turlington, who has been attending Oxford Female Seminary, has returned home for vacation.

Mr. G. E. Butler is home from the University for vacation.

Mr. V. S. Bryant and Miss E. H. McVier, teachers of Salem High School, left for their homes Thursday, 6th inst.

Miss Virginia Butler, of Cumberland, who has been visiting friends and relatives in Honeycutts returned home last week.

TURKEY.

Mr. W. A. Faison attended the University Centennial last week, and was the only representative of his class from this county. He participated in the banquet, and seems highly pleased with his trip generally.

A much enjoyed Euchre party was given last evening, at Mr. Liv. Faison's, in honor of Miss Christine Harmon, of Staunton, Va., who is visiting Miss Florence Faison.

MC DANIELS.

The Sunday School at the school-house in District No. 56 is in a flourishing condition. The teachers and pupils seem to be greatly interested in the work, and good will of a certainty follow. Praymeeting is held in the school-house every 1st and 3rd Sunday.

Crops in this section, with the exception of cotton, are the best we have had in ten years. Some of our farmers are through hilling corn.

A Card.

All overcharges in commissions, or freight, or delays in returns of produce shipped to B. C. Fuller, New York, will be PROMPTLY corrected as soon as communication is reopened with New York. Of this the shippers may REST ASSURED.

FRENCH McQUEEN.

June 5th, 1889.

$100 Reward. $100.

The readers of THE CAUCASIAN will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucus surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength, by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure.

EDUCATION OF WOMEN.

It is a hopeful feature of the woman's rights question that the proper education of girls and women—on a basis as broad and comprehensive as that offered to boys and men—is receiving more and more attention, and the subject of the ballot by common consent seems to be less generally discussed. Education is the first requisite—and an education that will aid the woman for life and its practical duties. The time has passed for regarding a woman as unsexing herself if she become a bread-winner. The natural course of events forces a large number to work for their livelihood; and it is recognized at last that women's education is faulty which aims at the fresco of accomplishments without the solid oak of attainments. The new fields opening for women's work signify not new links for the old slavery, but new crowns for her diadem, new opportunities for human betterment, and new opportunities for human happiness.—Jewish Messenger.

The Invalid's Hope.
 Many seemingly incurable cases of blood poison, catarrh, scrofula and rheumatism have been cured by B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm), made by the Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Write to them for book filled with convincing proof.
 G. W. B. Ralder, living seven miles from Athens, Ga., writes: "For several years I suffered with running ulcers, which doctors treated and pronounced incurable. A single bottle of B. B. B. did me more good than all the doctors. I kept on using it and every ulcer healed."
 D. C. Kinard & Son Towaliga, Ga., writes: "We induced a neighbor to try B. B. B. for catarrh, which he thought incurable, as it had resisted all treatment. It delighted him, and continuing its use he was cured sound and well."
 H. M. Lawson, East Point, Ga., writes: "My wife had scrofula 15 years. She kept growing worse. She lost her hair and her skin broke out fearfully. Debility, emaciation and no appetite followed. After physical and numerous advertised medicines failed, I tried B. B. B., and her recovery was rapid and complete."
 Oliver Secor, Baltimore, Md., writes: "I suffered from weak back and rheumatism. B. B. B. has proven to be the only medicine that gave me relief."

How Like a Child.—A little five year old daughter of Dr. Pickens Taylor, of Georgia, was taken down with a spell of intermittent fever. It became necessary to administer quinine, which he did in the form of small capsules. In order to induce her to take them he told that they were "little humming birds' eggs, and were very nice." When the quinine had taken effect, she told her father with great glee, that the little birds had hatched and were singing in her head.

Scrofula is a form of blood poison which descends from parent to child; sometimes it omits one generation to appear in the next. It is a taint which before a cure can be made, slowly Specific drives out the virus through pores of the skin, and thus relieves the blood of the poison. Mercury and potash mixtures dry up the sores of scrofula and other blood diseases, only to bottle up the poison in the system which of course is certain to break out at some weak spot, as the throat, nasal organs and lungs.

Judging from what I have seen, I regard Swift's Specific the king patent medicine of the day. I know several persons who have been permanently cured of serious cases of blood poisoning by its use after prolonged and unsuccessful use of various other remedies.

Sweet Simplicity.—(You must have been leaning up against the banisters, angry, jealous, affectionately remarked the fair girl's grandmother as she brought her spectacles to a correct focus and took another look at the stains on the waist of Angey's dress. "Them ain't no banister stains, returned the truthful maiden, who ran a little boys' bible class in the parish church. "Charley was feeding me caramels last night and I guess them's the prints of his fingers."

CONSUMPTION SURELY CURED.
 To the Editor.—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy free to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their express and post office address. Respectfully,

Questions of importance by a four-year old: "How do they get our souls out of our bodies when we die,—cut 'em out?" "Why don't we see the yellow envelopes the telegraph comes in with?" "The Bible calls bad old folks goats, but children are old, ain't they?" "Is it too late for me to have a twin brother?" "Any rate, me and Billy Green is twin cousins, ain't we?" "If you was me when you was a man, would you drive a hearse or join a circus?"
